Dear Sir:

I am a nutritionist with twenty years of working with the major degenerative diseases. I have seen a lot. I know you are busy and so am I so I am not going to write the multipaged letter that I would like to write.

I will only say, for the sake of future generations, yours and mine-- please find a way to put a stop to altering our food supply. Surely if God was smart enough to make us he was smart enough to create the foods we needed to remain healthy.

Sincerely,
Jacqueline Wayman
